

Computer animations are starting to be in more and more of the traditional cel animation areas. Full-length computer animations are starting to appear on Saturday morning cartoons, as well. But even more important are the inroads that 3D computer animations are making into the high-end theatre animations.